City Council Agenda Communication

Meeting Date: November 18, 2024

Prepared By: Jon Oliphant, AICP, Planning & Development Director

Agenda Item: First Reading Ordinance – Request by Steve and Alissa Vander Naalt to Rezone 926 Dallas Road (the “Subject Property”) from the R-1 District to the AG-1 District

Explanation: Steve and Alissa Vander Naalt have requested the rezoning of 926 Dallas Road from the R-1 District (Single- and Two-Family Residential) to the AG-1 District (Agriculture) to allow for chickens and domesticated goats to be housed on the property. An analysis of the pertinent facts is offered below.

Background: Mr. and Mrs. Vander Naalt purchased 926 Dallas in 2017. The property was part of a larger tract with 920 Dallas when it was rezoned in 2005 from AG-1 to R-1. The property was later subdivided to allow for a new house to be built at 926 Dallas. The Vander Naalt’s have indicated that they thought the property was zoned AG-1 when they bought it.

The Subject Property totals approximately 2.84 acres. Aside from the house that was constructed in 2012, a pool was added in 2022. The Subject Property is largely secluded from view from Dallas due to significant tree coverage. Mr. and Mrs. Vander Naalt were informed by staff that the City Council repealed the consideration of poultry on residential-zoned properties in 2020 except for those specific owners and properties that had previously approved special use permits. Agricultural uses, including the raising and feeding of stock and poultry, and single-family dwellings are allowed on AG-1 parcels. The Vander Naalt’s determined that they would like to seek a rezoning to AG-1 to allow for chickens and potentially other small farm animals to be housed on their property.

The Vander Naalt’s have indicated that they are not interested in any other agricultural uses and have proposed a “conditional rezoning” to AG-1 that would prohibit the utilization “for large animal use of any kind, large animal housing, commercial agriculture, grain storage, a riding academy or commercial stables.” The full proposal submitted by the Vander Naalt’s is attached. This includes affidavits signed by four of the five adjacent property owners on the west side of Dallas that have attested to their support of the rezoning request. The one exception to that list is the Faith Holliness Assembly property at 1014 Dallas, which is currently vacant. According to the submittal from the Vander Naalt’s, a horse farm was formerly located on this property.

Staff found one other case that involved a downzoning from a non-AG-1 district to AG-1 that also had conditions attached to the rezoning. 914 S. Main Street was rezoned to AG-1 with restrictions in 1996. The property was annexed concurrent with the rezoning and did not receive the default R-1A (Single-Family Residential) zoning classification. The restrictions placed on the property were to only allow for the “keeping, raising and feeding of horses and ponies, a riding academy or commercial stables for retail or boarding of horses or ponies and for single-family dwelling purposes, and for not other agricultural purposes.” It restricted the number of horses or ponies to eight at any one time for no longer than 24 consecutive hours.

The Subject Property is centrally located within an area that primarily contains single-family residential uses with some larger lot residential properties and a church parcel to the north and northwest. Dallas is a major collector road with an annual average daily traffic (AADT) count of about 2,500. The road is utilized prominently for access to institutional uses such as Central Intermediate and Primary Schools, Washington Community High School, Five Points Washington, and the Washington Fire Department. The following are factors to consider in light of the rezoning request:

1. The existing uses and zoning of nearby properties:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Properties located North of the Subject Property: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ○ Use: Residential, Institutional ○ City Zoning: R-1A (Single-Family Residential), R-1 (Single- and Two-Family Residential, AG-1 (Agriculture) Districts; County Zoning: R-1 District (Low Density Residential) • Properties located East of the Subject Property: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ○ Use: Residential ○ Zoning: R-1 District • Properties located South of the Subject Property: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ○ Use: Residential ○ Zoning: R-1, AG-1 Districts • Properties located West of the Subject Property: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ○ Use: Residential ○ Zoning: R-1 District
2. The extent to which property values are diminished by particular zoning restrictions:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The R-1 District allows for single- and two-family residential structures. The AG-1 District allows for single-family residential structures in addition to agricultural uses. Property values do not figure to diminish due to the rezoning request.
3. The extent to which destruction of value of some property promotes the health, safety, morals or general welfare of the public:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Most of the parcels near the Subject Property are zoned R-1. However, there are several parcels nearby on W. Cruger Road and two parcels to the south with frontage on Dallas that are zoned AG-1. The proposed zoning is not an ideal fit but is also not entirely incompatible with other nearby properties.
4. The relative gain to the public compared to the hardship imposed upon individual property owners:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The hardship imposed upon the Subject Property owners by not being allowed to house chickens or goats is minor. While there would be no gain to the public, there figures to be little impact on the nearby property owners given their support of the rezoning request.
5. The suitability of the property for zoned purposes:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The property was previously zoned AG-1 when it was part of a larger tract with the 920 Dallas parcel. It meets each of the zoning code regulations for an AG-1 lot.
6. The length of time the property has been vacant as zoned, considered in the context of land developed in the vicinity:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The Subject Property was originally zoned AG-1 until approval of its rezoning to R-1 in 2005. A single-family house was constructed on the property in 2012.
7. The community need for the proposed use:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The proposed rezoning is intended for personal homestead usage to allow for the housing of chickens and goats.
8. The compatibility with the Comprehensive Plan:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The designation denoted in the Comprehensive Plan for the Subject Property is Single- and Two-Family Residential.

Fiscal Impact: There would likely not be an increase in the assessed valuation of the Subject Property, which would not cause an increase in the payment of property tax. There will be no sales tax generation.

Recommendation Summary: The Planning and Zoning Commission held a public hearing on this request at its meeting on November 13. The PZC recommended approval by a 3-2 vote of the proposed rezoning with the following conditions, most of which formerly pertained to the housing of chickens on residential properties:

- The allowable small animals consisting solely of chickens and domesticated goats shall only be permitted on the property if it is owner-occupied.
- Not more than twenty (20) chickens may be kept on the lot at any given time. An allowance for more chickens than were previously allowed by the residential chickens ordinance (five) was made given the larger size of the Subject Property.
- Not more than five (5) domesticated goats may be kept on the lot at any given time. The domesticated goats shall not exceed fifty (50) pounds apiece.

- No roosters or unreasonably loud species of chicken shall be kept on the lot.
- No allowable animals shall be slaughtered.
- The allowable animals shall be kept at all times within an enclosure in the rear yard constructed and consistent with a plan submitted and approved by the Code Enforcement Officer. The enclosure shall be kept and built in such a manner as to allow for easy ingress and egress for the allowable animals and shall offer protection from weather elements. Wire or other materials can only be used if a permanent six-foot (6') high opaque fence entirely encloses the rear yard. In lieu of a fence, a permanent enclosure housing the allowable animals shall be constructed subject to the approval of the Code Enforcement Officer. The enclosure shall not be visible from the street on which the house faces.
- The area of the enclosure for the purpose of housing the allowable animals including any outdoor runs shall not exceed two hundred forty (240) square feet.
- A building permit must first be issued for the enclosure housing the allowable animals. The fee for the housing of the allowable animals shall be twenty-five dollars ($25) for a one calendar year permit.
- The enclosure housing the allowable animals shall not be located closer than ten (10) feet from any side or rear property line and twenty-five (25) feet from any residential structure on an adjacent lot.
- Waste material shall not be accumulated resulting from the keeping of the allowable small animals which creates any offensive odor or nuisance.
- All food sources and other items that are associated with the keeping of the allowable small animals that are likely to attract rats, mice, or other rodents shall be protected in a container with a tightly fitted lid so as to prevent rodents from gaining access to or coming into contact with them.

Action Requested: Under most circumstances, staff would not support a rezoning request from R-1 to AG-1 when most of the nearby properties are zoned R-1. However, this property was previously zoned AG-1, it meets the applicable AG-1 lot regulations, and the Vander Naalt's have received written support from most of the adjacent property owners. As a result, staff is more comfortable with the request and does not feel that it would create an undue precedent for any possible future rezoning requests. Staff recommends that if the rezoning is approved, the conditions noted above be included in the ordinance. The City Council has the discretion to attach other conditions to the rezoning, if desired. A first reading ordinance is scheduled for the November 18 Council meeting and a second reading ordinance will be scheduled for the December 2 meeting.

926 Dallas Rd Rezoning request
R1 to AG1 with large animal exclusion

Proposed Change

Steve and Alissa Vander Naalt, the current owners of 926 Dallas are requesting a zoning change from R1 back to AG1 with a large animal exclusion to allow for personal homestead usage for gardening and small animals.

- 926 Dallas would not be utilized for large animal use of any kind, large animal housing, commercial agriculture, grain storage, a riding academy or commercial stables.

Brief Property History

Prior to May 2005, 926 Dallas was a part of 920 Dallas Rd and was utilized as a horse farm. The property was rezoned in May of 2005 for an unknown reason. Neighbors state that the land continued to be utilized as a horse farm well into 2006. All owners since rezoning were under the impression that this property was still zoned Ag-1.

Current Status

926 Dallas Rd is a unique property within Washington measuring just under 3 acres. There is large tree coverage as well as a portion of Farm Creek within the property. The property is currently utilized for residential purposes and due to its unique layout, will never be divided into further residential lots or incorporated into a subdivision. Current plat attached (MAP 1). Zoning change would have no influence on future city infrastructure or cause need for utility changes.

Zoning Ordinance requirements for AG1

- 926 Dallas will never be divided into further residential lots or incorporated into a subdivision
- Required lot area of 2 acres exceeded – 2.9 acres
- Lot width of 200 feet exceeded – 260 feet
- Front yard of 80 feet exceeded – 275 feet
- Side yards of 15 feet exceeded – 30 feet and 175 feet
- Rear yard of 30 feet exceeded – 100 feet

Note: A zoning change would NOT create precedent as almost no R1 properties within Washington meet AG1 ordinance lot size and setback requirements.

Current neighborhood support

All current neighbors of 926 Dallas Rd are in support (signed affidavits attached) of a zoning change including:

1020 Dallas Rd -

829 Simon St ·

825 Simon St -

Supportive Neighboring Properties

- 900 Dallas Rd is a similar property that has likewise been bought and sold in a similar time frame as 926 Dallas Rd. It also has a single-family home as does 926 Dallas and has retained its AG1 status
- 14 Chrisendale Ln has long held a large property abutting Dallas Rd that continues to be zoned AG1
- Now 709 Dallas Rd, previously part of the 14 Chrisendale Ln lot, has recently been developed as a single-family residence and retains AG1 status
- All three properties, 900 Dallas Rd, 709 Dallas Rd and 14 Chrisendale Ln are further into town than 926 Dallas Rd and maintain AG1 status

Attached zoning map (MAP 2) demonstrates the numerous surrounding AG1 properties currently on Dallas and Cruger Rd. Many of which are utilized as single-family homes as is 926 Dallas Rd

Future Plans for 926 Dallas Rd

1. Changing to AG1 would allow utilization of our unique property in further manners as desired by our family for personal use only. We are more than happy to make our submission with an exemption to exclude large animals at 926 Dallas Rd.
